

A diagram of a hydrogen atom (H) with atomic number 11. The atom is represented by a circle with a horizontal line through the center. The number 11 is written above the line, and the letter H is written below the line.